der being out of the game, with Mayberry at first, and in the fifth inning. Hickert, swifering from charley-horse, retired, Hall going to left and Loos to right. Callahan succeeded Laughlin behind the but, and Bussey, who had heen very ineffective, was sent to centre, while Sullivan, centre fielder, was called on to pitch. With this conglomeration the Bugs braced up, and from that time to the end of the contest the Tigers got only one run and three hits, whereas in the other innings they landed nine hits and six runs. The crippled condition of Danville and the presence of a small crowd and bleak wind took much of the interest from the game and made it rather listless. A catch by Gaston was the big feature. POOR PITCHING MARKS GAME Seventeen Horses Start on Race.

Philadelphia, Fa., June 1.—Wretched pitching marked to-day's game here, which Philadelphia lost to St. Louis by 10 to 5. The home team's pitchers gave eleven passes, and St. Louis's twirlers eight. Huggins, who went to bat six times, received four passes, and made two sacrifice hits, while Phelps, in five trips to the plate, made four singles and was hit by a pitched ball. Miss McComms Comes Next Week.

"Audrey" is still drawing large audiences to the Academy with its six scenes of unsurpassed beauty and coloring, and its rich costumes of the eighteenth century. Miss Catherine Carter renders a most competent in terpretation of the exacting role of the Gypsy maiden, Audrey, and Franklin Ritchie was never better cast. Addrey will be seen at the Academy again to night and to-morrow matinees and night.

Next week's offering of the stock company "caste" will mark the return to the Benjamin Players of that most popular leading woman, Miss Carroll McCommas, who comes direct to Richmond after having completed an engagement in "Caste" at the Empire Theatre, New York, with Chas. Fromman's all-star production of that great comedy. Miss McCommas will be seen next week in the role of "Polly," the same character in which she has been starring in New York.

Richmond is now in that peculiar position where the best view of all the other teams in the league can be had—at the bottom. No matter what the distance may be, the Colts have just to look straight ahead, and they can see every team. And the irony of fate seems to be that Revelle lost the game that sent Richmond to the

The distance between the teams, in percentage points, is really not so great when a caim and impartial view of the matter is taken. A few straight wins will put Richmond well in the running, and the Colts just as well prepare to take at least a majority of the games to-day, to-morrow and Saturday from Norfolk

Titman, Irvine, Cowan and Revelle got the other four hits that graced the Richmond side of the score board.
